

macOS Connection Guide

1. Insert the ClickShare Button:

- Plug the ClickShare Button into a free USB-C slot on your Mac.

2. Open the ClickShare Application:

- Click on the ClickShare logo that appears on your desktop to open the ClickShare screen.

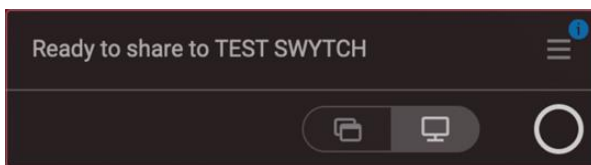

- Click on "ClickShare_for_MacOSX" in the center of the screen to open the ClickShare app.

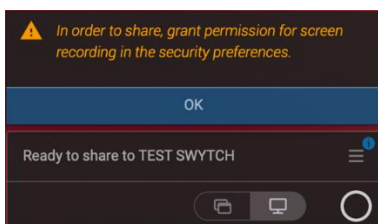

3. Start Sharing Your Screen:

- You can start sharing by either clicking on the physical Button or clicking the white circle in the ClickShare App.

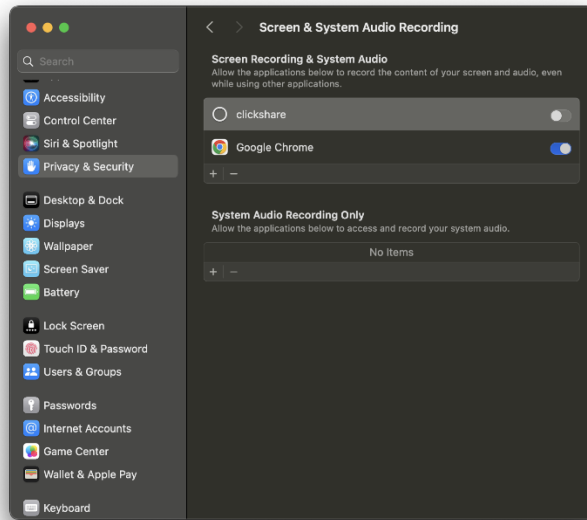

4. Grant Necessary Permissions (First-time Setup):

- Since macOS Big Sur, you will need to grant permissions for various actions the first time you use them due to changes in Apple's Privacy Policy.
- Click "OK" on the popup that appears from the ClickShare App.

5. Enable Screen and System Audio Recording:

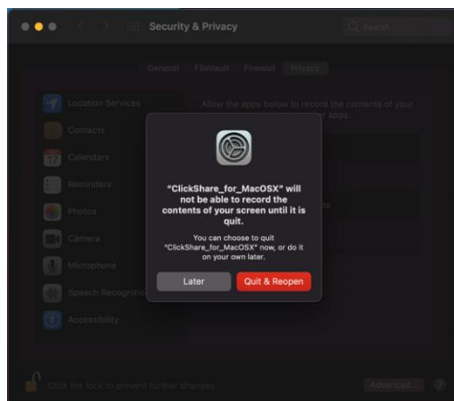

- Go to the Screen & System Audio Recording Privacy Menu.
- Toggle the ClickShare app on. You will need to provide credentials for an account with admin rights.

- Confirm that the toggle is now on for the ClickShare app.

6. Restart the ClickShare App:

- Click "Quit & Reopen" to restart the app with the new permissions.

7. Ready to Share:

- You are now ready to share your screen. Once these initial steps are completed, you won't need to repeat steps 4 through 6 in future sessions. Next time you plug in the Button, only steps 1, 2, 3, and 4 will be necessary.
